HINTS & TIPS

An International Driving Permit (IDP) is proof that you hold a valid driver's licence in your home country at the date of issue of the IDP. This should be carried with your domestic driver's licence at all times. It is a very useful document and is required or recommended for many countries when hiring a motor vehicle.

It is essential when collecting a car that you also present a credit card in the main driver's name. This is used to hold a security bond in case of any accident or incident. This bond is returned when the car is returned without incident. If you are travelling with a debit card, these are not always accepted so please check with DriveAway at time of booking and you may be required to take out an excess reduction option. Pre-paid cash or travellers cards are not accepted in any cases.

When you collect your car it is important to note the fuel policy that is applicable to your rental. The most common policy is a full to full arrangement where you collect and return the car with a full tank of fuel. Alternatively the other option is pre-paid fuel where you pre-pay for a tank of fuel and return the car as empty as possible, as there is no refund for unused fuel.

By pre-booking with DriveAway Holidays, you receive the benefit of our purchasing power. Our prices with the major car rental operators are considerably lower than walking in off the street in a foreign country to rent a car. In addition you are paying in New Zealand dollars so the risk of currency fluctuations is reduced.
