VIBRANT PEOPLE, EXCITING DESTINATION

Bordering every South American country except Ecuador and Chile, Brazil is a land of extremes. From its beautiful white sand beaches, to the dense rainforests of the Amazon. From the great wealth of its people, to levels of extreme poverty. Spirited and spontaneous, Brazilians always have time for a celebration whether it's soccer, Carnival, or a religious ceremony. Music fills the air and the samba is danced every day.

THE NORTH

If you are looking for an ecological adventure, the north of Brazil is the Amazon region, the world's largest biological reserve and home to one-third of the planet's living species. There are several jungle lodges to choose from which accommodate tourists offering comfort, security and a range of cruises that can be taken along this grand river.

THE NORTHEAST

South America's most beautiful beaches are popular all year around in this continuous summer climate. They range from the Canoa Quebrada Beach in Ceara through to Genipabu with its sand dunes in Rio Grande do Norte.

THE MIDWEST

From Brasilia, the nation's capital, with its bold architectural style to the Pantanal of Mato Grosso, this area is an isolated ecological sanctuary.

THE SOUTHEAST

Rio de Janeiro is a city of luxuriant greenery contrasted by modern buildings. The nation's best known city and home to Carnival, Rio is the city between the mountains and the sea. Stunning beaches in Angra dos Reis, Buzios and Cabo Frio, and the locals 'cariocas' are fun-loving, sensual and easy going.

THE SOUTH

As a result of the migration of Germans, Italians and Polish settlers, the south of Brazil has a distinct European influence. Further south lies one of the world's largest waterfalls - Iguazu Falls.
